IN BOSTON MARKETS.

Butter Dropped Nine Cents in Last Week -About at Low Level Now.

Boston, Jan. 29 .- Another drop of le a pound in the local jobbing prices on butter has been made, making the net decline during the past week or so 9@ 91/2c. The New York market continued to display a pronounced weakness, but the Chicago market, although reported as weak, was unchanged in price. The Boston jobbers are of the opinion that the butter markets of the country have reached their low level, for the time being at least. If there should be a further decline, they believe it will be a small one.

Western egg markets are a shade weaker, but the New York and local markets were virtually unchanged. The warm weather possibly will cause a further break in local quotations before the end of the week. Local jobbing prices of butter, cheese and eggs follow: Butter - Fancy porthern creamery, tubs, 59@5914, boxes, 60@601/c; prints, tubs, 60@61c; western creamery 58@581/2c; good to choice creamery, 57 @571/ge, fair to good, 56@561/ge; reno-

BEEF STOCK LOWER.

Prices Weak at Brighton Market with Slack Demand.

Brighton, Mass., Jan. 29.-All beef wtok was weak and lower at the Brighton stockyards yesterday morning, but calves and hogs were steady and practically unchanged.

Very few beef cattle offered in this market would grade better than av-, and probably 11@12 cents would be a fair price for the best of the offer-Demand was slack, good cattle being quoted at 9@10 cents, medium cattle at 8@9 cents and light cattle at 748 cents.

Canner cow prices have broken very badly owing to the high demand for cheap beef of every description. Buyers were not willing to pay over 5 cents for the best canners, and were indifferent as to whether they got them even at that. Little interest is being shown in such stuff in the Boston market, and buyers were afraid to operate. Tops were held at 9 cents, and occasionally more for a specially good beef cow or heifer. Good cows sold slowly at 7@ 8 cents, ordinary cows at 6@7 cents. Average bulls sold at 61/2@7 cents, with some fancy bulls held higher, with few buyers. Bologna bulls sold at 51/2@6

Owing to uexpectedly small receipts calves showed considerable strength, and prices ruled about as previously noted. Fancy small lots brought 161/2@17 cents, with bunch lote at 14@16 cents. fuir lots at 10@13 cents, and grassers and drinkers at 7@9 cents.

Sheep and lambs were in small supply and prices were fairly steady at 14@16 cents for best lambs and 8@10 cents for

Live hogs are coming forward freely from the West, and the local kill has been heavy, but the government demand continues to take up all the surplus, and prices of both live and dressed are maintained. Live hogs were selling in the Brighton market yesterday morning at 171/2@17% cents for the best, and oceasional fancy lots bringing a fraction more. Rough lots sold at 17@171/4 centa. Dressed hogs continue to sell at 221/2@23 cents, the same as for over a month past.

The milch cow trade is very slow, es secially for all except the top grades. Ordinary milkers are selling as low as $40@$50, prices ranging from this figure to $100@$125 and upward for fancy milkers. Buyers are showing little interest in anything except the best.
